Spiciness by Necessity:

All curries have to be at least Medium Spicy. We can't make any curries mild, but medium spicy of each is different depending on the characteristics of each dish. While we can make Green, Red, and Yellow curries spicier as you prefer, we don't do that with Panang and Massaman because they taste the best at medium.

Some stirred-fried dishes are not spicy at all but some have to be at least medium spicy. While medium of Thai Memory Chicken seems to be fine for most people, medium of Basil dishes may be too spicy for some, again depending on the characteristics of the dish.

Spiciness by Choice:

Most dishes we can make them spicier than medium or mild if you prefer but please bear in mind that when you order it spicy here, it is really spicy. Those of you that are familiar with spiciness from Chinese restaurant may have a big surprise when trying our spicy or very spicy level for the first time. Some stirred-fried dishes we prefer not to make them spicier than medium, for example, Thai Memory chicken comes medium spicy. To make it spicier is to change the characteristic of the whole dish.
